What is the University of Porto Summer Institute on Clinical Psychological Science?

The University of Porto Summer Institute on Clinical Psychological Science is an intensive learning experience offered by an international group of teachers, researchers, and practitioners who are experts on a broad range of evidence-based interventions. Its main goal is to enhance participants' knowledge and understanding of theory and research on evidence-based psychological interventions in clinical psychology.

PhD students, post-doctoral researchers and practitioners in Psychology and Psychiatry are welcome to the Summer Institute. The Summer Institute is also intended to be a stimulating environment for exchanging research experiences and clinical expertise. Participants will have the opportunity to discuss their research projects, attend clinical cases conferences and improve their scientific writing skills. This Institute also aims to create a unique interpersonal and cultural experience, gathering participants and tutors from all over the world in the beautiful city of Porto.

The Summer Institute takes place in Porto, the north capital of Portugal. At the Douro riverbanks, the "Cidade Invicta" (unvanquished city) is one of the oldest cities in Europe and the second largest city of Portugal. Known worldwide by the Porto Wine, the "city of bridges" has actually six bridges over the Douro river. Luís I bridge (1881-1886) is the most famous, built by Théophile Seyrig, colleague of Gustav Eiffel.

Porto was classified by UNESCO as Cultural Heritage of Humanity (1996) and designated as the European Capital of Culture (2001). A city of history, culture, gastronomy, trade, and sea, Porto was elected Best European Destination 2014 (besteuropeandistinations.com).

All courses and workshops will be taught in English.
