

Justification of the application to the Doctoral Program in Educational

Science

Applicants must present a document that justifies their interest in attending and completing the doctoral degree and that, simultaneously, indicates the field of research to be undertaken, as well as its relevance to the production of knowledge in Educational Sciences. This document must have between 5 and 10 A4 pages, including bibliographic references (cited in the text).

Although this document is not a "doctoral project" it must express potential research interests, already making some connection with scientific literature in this area. It is, indeed, an opportunity to "present" oneself as a researcher through writing.
